Chapman and Cutler Welcomes New Partner Marilyn Tham

Marilyn Tham joins Chapman's Banking Department.

SAN FRANCISCO (September 9, 2013) — Marilyn Tham has joined Chapman and Cutler as a partner resident in the San Francisco office, where she focuses her practice on commercial finance and secured transactions.

Marilyn represents banks and other financial institutions and specialty lenders nationally in a variety of financing transactions, including asset-based loans, single-lender secured loans, and agent banks in complex, syndicated loans. She has broad-based experience in commercial finance and has handled transactions involving companies with varying forms of capitalization, including emerging growth, family-owned, private, and public companies, and in a range of industries, including the specialty finance, technology, life sciences, real estate, retail, and health care sectors. Marilyn participates in various financial services industry groups and civic organizations and has been active in the leadership of local and national bar associations. She previously practiced law with Buchalter Nemer in San Francisco.

Dave McMullen, office leader of Chapman's San Francisco office, noted that "Marilyn's depth of experience in asset-based lending, lender finance, and syndicated transactions complements our strong banking platform. We are very pleased to welcome her as part of our banking team."

"I am excited to join Chapman and Cutler and am confident that our common clients will be well served by the firm's breadth of experience and national presence in the banking and specialty finance sectors," said Marilyn.

Chapman's commercial lending clients include the largest US banks, regional banks, foreign banks operating in the US, independent finance companies and specialty lenders, investment funds, and issuers and underwriters of asset-backed securities and asset-backed commercial paper conduits.
