Handling structured transactions involving financial assets and asset-backed financings with unusual revenue streams is a hallmark of Chapman's structured finance practice. The firm is nationally known for its representation of US and foreign financial institutions in securitization and structured transactions, including institutional investors in private placements of securitized assets. Chapman's nationally recognized public finance practice ranks among the top law firms in the nation for public and not-for-profit finance. Chapman has been at the forefront in the development of new financing products, legislative advocacy, and counseling public bodies and the financial services industry regarding evolving obligations under federal law and regulations impacting public and not-for-profit finance.
