

Esoteric Assets and Emerging Asset Classes

At Chapman and Cutler, we are sought after by high-profile companies in need of practical experience in financing transactions involving a variety of unique asset types, including motion picture rights, music royalties, fiber optic cable, health club fees, and meal credits, among others. Our attorneys have also collaborated on securitizations of revenues from professional sports stadiums and other professional sports-related financings, such as representing investors purchasing notes and certificates in financings backed by rights and revenues under national media contracts for National Football League and Major League Baseball teams. Chapman attorneys are also active participants in structuring securitization structures for emerging asset classes, such as REO (real estate owned)-to-rental.
