

Asset Securitization (Tax)

Most securitizations are structured to isolate cash flows that will form the sole source of payment on obligations. Minimizing taxes on that cash flow stream is a necessary part of the structuring in any such transaction.

Members of our Tax Department work closely with our Asset Securitization, Corporate Finance, Corporate and Securities and Sports Related Finance Groups in structuring a wide variety of asset and mortgage securitization transactions. We are experienced in representing sponsors, issuers, trustees and investors and have developed in-depth technical and practical knowledge of relevant issues and objectives from a variety of perspectives.

Whether the issue is characterization and taxation of the obligations being issued, related hedging or credit swap transactions, taxation of sponsors, issuers or investors (including timing mismatches, transfer taxes or withholding taxes) or harmonizing tax and accounting objectives, our Tax Department has faced and worked through solutions, reducing transaction time and costs for existing and new clients.

Representative Transactions

- Represented a U.S. affiliate of a Japanese manufacturer as issuer in public and private securitizations of dealer floor plan receivables and lease receivables.
- Acted as lead tax counsel in a securitization-based financing used to acquire railcars located in the U.S., Canada and Mexico. The securitized debt was placed in the U.S. and Canada.
- Represented numerous leasing and finance companies in their periodic warehouse and term securitizations and other privately placed structured finance transactions.
- Represented sub-prime auto loan originators in securitizations and structured financings of auto loan and lease portfolios, including titling trusts.
