Brad Bonneau is the Controller and Chief Accounting Officer at Chapman and Cutler. He joined the firm in 2012. He manages Chapman's Accounting and Finance team and oversees accounts payable and expense reimbursements, as well as the preparation of the firm's financial statements and payroll processing. Brad also supervises the annual audit.

Brad works with Chapman attorneys to develop non-hourly pricing models for clients. He also works with the firm's accounting and pricing professionals to develop and improve pricing and performance metrics.

Prior to joining Chapman, Brad worked as the Accounting Manager at Bryan Cave LLP, an Am Law 200 law firm, where he managed accounts payable, billing, and budget preparation. His experience also includes working as the Assistant Controller for a large title lending company as well as Senior Financial Analyst for one of the world's largest steel companies.
